

College students struggle to find enough time in a day to handle their responsibilities and lose sleep because of it.